

CLUB ROYALLY ENTERTAINED BY FARMERS

Business Men are Guests of Monett Farm Club at an Egg Roast. A Jolly Time Reported.

The Monett Commercial Club was invited by the Monett Farm Club to an egg roast given by them at the Talbert school house Friday night. There was a good representation of citizens at the meeting, there being fully as many from the Commercial Club as from the Farm Club. Most of the business firms of Monett were represented.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyable, there being an entire absence of stiffness by reason of its being an "egg roast" instead of a "banquet."

While eggs and wienies were being prepared by the committee, that is, being hard boiled in a large kettle on the open fire in the yard, very appropriate talks were being heard within the house.

These talks were opened by Mr. Fleetwood, president of the Farm Club and J. V. Nelson of the Commercial club. Rev. Luther Carlin gave a very appropriate short talk on community affairs—our relation one to the other, our social neglect, its effect on our sons and daughters. This is all brought about by our rush and desire to make a success of the thing uppermost in our minds—our business—whether it be farming or what not, showing that our first duty should be the home.

S. A. Chapell was asked to make a talk. In a few short remarks he called attention to the mutual relationship between town and country, how impracticable it is for us to think of trying to live unto ourselves and of how dependent we really are one upon the other.

Mr. Mermoud spoke of the object of the Farm Club and made further mention of the lack of cooperation and confidence so often manifested when things of mutual interest came up, and of the "gulf" that seemed to persist in existing between business or townspeople and farmer folks. He showed very nicely why there should be no such feeling and ably pictured how our joys and sorrows are mutual. At his suggestion it was agreed that there should be a committee of three from each club appointed to be in readiness to look after mutual and community affairs. So saying at the joint meeting of the two clubs such committees were voted to be appointed.

Appropriate talks by R. M. Callaway, Chas. Mansfield and J. H. Gulick were duly seasoned with jokes and were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

By this time the "chefs" had arranged tables in the house. Lunch was announced and the visitors were invited to partake. Eggs by the bushel were hard boiled, buns, wienies, pickles and coffee were in abundance. Some of the fellows were able to eat only 10 or 12 eggs and regretted that they were not able to do the job justice.

All left with a kind of "hard boiled" feeling, but with a feeling of good fellowship and understanding.

The Commercial Club hopes to entertain the farmers at an informal "feed" sometime soon.

HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL A SUCCESS

Spectacular Parade Heralds Annual School Event. Many Attractions.

The Annual Carnival given by the High school Friday was more elaborate and successful than anything of its kind ever given by Monett high school. The forerunner of the carnival came in the form of an elaborate and spectacular parade. In forming the parade they gathered around the school campus displaying a bright and magnificent array of brilliant gayly colored vehicles of every description.

When the parade was fully formed a float, containing the queen on her throne, was preceded by the school car and the band, and was followed by elaborately decorated floats, huge touring cars handsomely decked, freak-like and ancient means of travel, horsemen, bicyclists and many machines advertising every section of the Carnival. When well under way the parade reached five blocks in length and met the applause of large groups of citizens on every course.

When the carnival opened at 7:30, The crowd entered the Pike at the main entrance and were met with a profusion of gay colors. There was a booth containing the wheel of fortune in lavender and yellow where every one received balloons, knives and prizes of various sorts. The pink and white candy booth, presided over by maidens dressed in pink who sold confectionery of every kind, the green and white cake stand occupied by girls in domestic science uniform and the yellow and white booth where by a game of chance the girls secured the kewpie of their heart.

Interspersed between the booths were the chief attractions of the Pike.

In one room was found the baby show. In some of the sweet baby faces could be recognized the football stars. On the walls of the nursery was a display of fancy work done by the people of Monett.

In another room the moving picture show was held. Here twelve students representing the famous movie stars appeared before the spot light and presented the characters of such people as Norma Talmadge, Patty Arbuckle and Charley Chaplin.

The Vaudeville for the show was furnished by the Midget dwarf dancers.

Another attraction of the Pike was the doll show where students dressed as Topsy, Bill Boy, President Harding's rag doll and a number of these were made to perform.

The side show of the Pike included the snake charmer, the two gypsy fortune tellers and the woman with the disappearing body.

On reaching the upper floor, one was attracted by the snow-clad ice cream booth on the one hand and the peculiar novel booth which formed the April Fool's corner.

In the teacher Training room could be found the museum which contained many historical and antique relics gathered from the homes in and around Monett there was a Cremona violin 175 years old, a paper containing the death of George Washington. The caretakers were garbed in costumes of ages past.

The country store displayed its bargains at the end of the corridor. The outstanding performance of the whole carnival was given in the Auditorium where the queen seated on her beautifully decorated throne and surrounded by her maids and attendants reigned supreme.

The outline of the program given for her majesty's pleasure was as follows: The solo dance of the Butterfly Spirit, the Spanish solo dance and the dance of Spring the Maids from Hawaii, the Alabama Coon Jiggers Minstrel and the Butterfly dance.

A crowd of some seven hundred people enjoyed the whole performance.

REAL CHANCE FOR FRUIT MEN

"While most varieties of apples have a large percentage of the fruit buds killed by the recent freeze, there are still enough good buds in many orchards to produce a very profitable crop of fruit," says V. R. Gardner, chairman of the horticultural department of the Missouri College of Agriculture—"provided they receive the best of care, particularly spraying. The fact that a large part of the crop has been killed only increases the probability that prices will be high enough fully to reward those orchardists who use every available means of protecting and developing that portion of the crop which still survives.

"Since the peach crop has been destroyed now is the time to prune the trees—and prune them heavily, adds Mr. Gardner. "The tendency of the peach tree is to build its fruit-bearing wood farther and farther from the root—making a top-heavy growth not consistent with maximum weather resistance and fruitfulness. Cutting back the trees now cannot do any harm and will induce a compact growth and put the trees in shape for another season's fruiting."

Mrs. Jim Amber went to Memphis, Tenn., Friday morning to take treatments from Dr. Mickey for her eyes. She was accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Thompson.

Those present were Misses Hazel Stewart, Wilma Finn, Grace Breden, Jewell Calhoun, Katherine Steele, Omah Jewel Dickerson, Martha Davis, Fern Bridges, Katherine Bethel, Muriel Alsbrook, Louise Hundley, Audrey Scott, Blanche Blakeslee, Messrs. Edgar McMahan, Glen Blakeslee, Rufus Blakeslee and Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Breden and Mrs. McMahan.
